Really Important Message!

Audio example

The multimedia package is part of beamer and described in the beamer docs, Chapter 14. Media files are not embedded into the PDF and must be kept alongside with the document.

To include audio (with controls) use the movie command with an audio file (ideally some common format):

Some PDF viewers (e.g. pdfpc) work better with a video file, otherwise they won't show controls:

Lilypond Example

You can use lyluatex with LuaTeX to typeset lilypond directly in a document. This requires lilypond to be installed and doesn't work on Overleaf.

To use literal lilypond code in beamer, add fragile to the frame.

Including a lilypond file doesn't require the fragile option.
